Sidney Woodruff Sidney Woodruff (January 4, 1874 – May 21, 1939) was an American physician and health care leader who played an active role in public health issues of the Progressive Era. Woodruff was born in Newark, Ohio and studied at The Ohio State University. He was a medical practitioner for 20 years in Mount Gilead, Ohio and was president of the Medical Association of Mount Gilead (then called the Mount Gilead Medical Association). In 1914 he helped to form the Mount Gilead Health Association and its successor, the Mount Gilead Hospital Association, which became a leading authority on the health aspects of business. He served on the Ohio State Board of Health and became its president in 1922. Later he was appointed associate commissioner for standards and sanitation by the New York Department of Health.
