I'm trying to make a black background with two textures, one on top of the other, but the textures are not in the same size and there is a thin line between the two textures. Here's an example of my problem: How do I get rid of the thin line? Thank you in advance for your help. A: You need to increase the height of the black texture. The default values look like they're 32px tall, but you can change those to a much bigger value. You can do that by opening your texture settings, clicking on the "handle", and moving it to whatever size you want it. [Toxic and allergic reactions to fludrocortisone in a child with bronchial asthma]. The authors report a case of an allergic and toxic reaction to fludrocortisone in a four-year-old child with bronchial asthma and allergic rhinitis. The treatment had to be interrupted and other steroids were prescribed. Anaphylaxis is rare, even in severe asthmatic children, but the most frequent acute complications of fludrocortisone treatment are hypoglycaemia and weight gain.Q: Implementations for token-based
