For direct access of your variables. No need to write all them in you program. Textbox Description: for fast and easy input of text. It´s very easy to use. A keymama creates a macro with 2 parameters The first one is your key. When you push that key you activate the macro. The second one is the text to enter in the text box. So, when you have you text in the box, press the key you use for the macro. Scripting Language Description: For easy scripting. The scripting language is very simple and easy to understand. You can even include other scripts. XML File Description: For fast and easy editing. Now you can save your game in xml files. There you can store for example all your NPCs, Spells, Items, Monsters and so on. So when you start a game it is already ready. You do not have to create the map yourself. XML Editor Description: For editing and saving xml files. The Editor is not a thing you need to learn. Just drag and drop and edit it like you do any other file. If you want to edit the script of an NPC just drag him to the editor and change the script. Languages: For the most part all the basic languages are supported. If you know a language it is very easy to include other languages. Just include them and give the path of the script. The Editor supports over 20 languages. You can download the script file here: To find out all you need to know about these languages, just play around a bit. All files are found under the license that is stated in the project itself.
