The reaction to the technology within the development community has been quite enthusiastic. "You can expect a lot of new animations, the state-of-the-art collision detection and feedback that the HyperMotion Technology provides, and the way players move in the game," said Jamie Cooper, FIFA Global Brand Director. "The amount of motion capture data we have captured to work with has been absolutely amazing, and it's resulted in a game that is far more intuitive and immersive for our players." "We've been working with FIFA's award-winning Frostbite™ Game Engine to bring players and teams to life with accurate, highly-realistic, and utterly immersive gameplay." FIFA 18 featured the Frostbite 3 engine, which was the biggest upgrade in Frostbite since 2012's FIFA 12. Now, Frostbite 4 will be utilized to deliver enhanced gameplay, re-imagined stadiums and player models. The latest version of the award-winning Frostbite game engine provides EA Sports with the best performance in terms of consoles and PC. The new game engine, Frostbite 4, ensures a smoother user experience as well as reduced load times and CPU overhead. Additionally, the physics engine and the game engine will provide the core of FIFA 19 and future FIFA titles with more responsiveness, faster lighting, smoke, and the ability to have more players on-screen, in real-time. "Frostbite 4 is the world's leading game engine, and we've worked hard to make sure that we can bring FIFA's performance to another level," said David Rutter, FIFA Global Brand Director. "In FIFA 17 we announced our plans to bring the game to a new level through the Frostbite 4 engine, and we are extremely excited to finally get the chance to show off what we've been working on." Our preview for FIFA 19 just got more interesting. The FIFA 19 preview event has just been announced! Over the coming months, EA SPORTS will hold a series of FIFA 19 previews, giving you the opportunity to try the game before its release. On Wednesday 17th March, EA SPORTS will be previewing FIFA 19 on: - Xbox One - PlayStation 4 - PC For those wishing to see the full gameplay preview event, the FIFA 19
